What You Don't Know About The Housing Crisis....And It's Happening Globally

Housing is quickly moving out of reach, with families outbid on homes, and tenants struggling with steep rent increases and evictions. Homelessness is now a global problem, even in countries with social safety nets. In this presentation, Sharon Byrne, walks us through why housing prices are escalating, and how it's affecting the world's cities. She'll also present solutions from forward-thinking cities and countries.
