BURMA: A Personal Perspective

Swapan Nag

Swapan Nag is CEO of Nag, Inc., a technology development company focused mainly on solutions for the public sector, including agencies such as NASA, JPL/Caltech, FAA, DHS, and the State Department. Swapan spent the first 18 years of his life in Burma, emigrating as a refugee to India after the Burmese Army took over the government in a “bloodless coup” in 1962. He traces the origins of army rule to current events that are occurring in Myanmar.
